

LOVE ADDICTION

You're so sweet
The way you call my name
You're so addicting the way you look at me
I can't stand to be away

We must always be together
We have lots of amazing trips all the time
I always wonder where you'll take me next
To the moon, maybe the sun

But when I am away from you
My life isn't the best
I have no friends to go and see
My family left without me

I have no love except for you
You show me how much you care
How you touch me gently
The sting of how you pierce my skin

And let your love just flow inside
The way it makes me see
I honestly don't know what's happening
I know that I feel good

I trust you to take me home
To my box down the back alley
By the baker so I can grab my meal for the day
But you never do so
A lot of the time I miss my meal

I always wake up alone on a street
Trying to find my way home
You always hurt me really deep
I know I shouldn't come back
But I'm addicted to your pain

The way you pierce my skin
And let your love just flow inside
I know I should be walking away
And I will not let you win this time

I'm walking away and never coming back
I found a home for others like me
They said they will help me
So I can get my family back

And hopefully make some new friends
And find the real true love of my life
I didn't even take a second guess at it I said yes
I'm sorry my love

I won't miss you
Or the way you used to pierce my skin
Or the trip you used to take me on
I want to go home

Not to my box on the street but to my family
I already called them and they were happy
So goodbye my needle and I hope
To never see you again

*Alanna Christie Dixon
Chilliwack Education Center
Upgrading Grade 12*